BLOOD HUMORS

It doesn't make any difference whether you believe in the modern theory and speak of the causes of diseases as referable to germs, microbes or bacilli, or whether you use the older and better understood terms of "humors" and "blood diseases"-Hood's Sarsaparilla cures them all. It cures scrofula eruptions, boils and pimples; cures salt rheum or eczema, and relieves the itching and burning; adapts itself equally well to, and cures dyspepsia and all stomach troubles due to generally weak condition and thin, anæmic blood; cures catarrh, rheumatism, malaria and all other blood poisons; cures nervous troubles, debility and that tired feeling, which just as surely indicate that the blood is lacking in vitality. This is not merely modern theory; it is solid up-to-date fact.

It is believed that the frequent breaking of windows is due to reckless shooting with pistols or air-guns. One of our churches has had several windows broken apparently with bullets. The window of a harness-shop near the stable of the Adams Hotel was lately broken by a bullet which lodged in the wall across the room. It is time that a few arrests were made. Pistols and airguns in the hands of boys are a menace to life and property.

Thought that the examination of companies could be better done by the commissioners than as proposed. In answer to Senator Brown: Receive $3,200 from both sources, and have other business. The $1,500 received as commissioners is gross, the commissioners having

Thought a $2,000 head of the department ought to have a clerk worth $1,000 ner year in order to make it equally as good per year in order to make it equally as good as at present.

Commissioner Bacon read a table of his expenses, $1.310, to be deducted from combined salary of $3,200. Commissioner Howland said that for a few months in each year his duties as secretary of State occupied nearly all of his time. Both offices took about all his time the year around. There are about $300 in fees attached to the office of secretary. The secretary should have $800 for clerk hire. It figured that he would, or did, receive $1,200 per year for one-half of his time, net, from both offices.

The two above named gentlemen were the only ones examined. No remarks were forth coming from any one, and the committee addocurred to meet on call.

Washington Granite. Mr Editor:—As the prosperity of the State, depends upon that of its towns we wish the public to know of the promising future which the town of Washington has in its stone dethe town of Washington has in its stone deposits. It cannot be long before the quarries here will be developed to uch an extent that not only this but adjoining towns will derive a great benefit. Through the efforts of Dr. F. A. Warner of the Warner Granite Company, a lecture was given here November 9, by Rev. George L Story of Milton to an appreciative audience and the following facts were emphasized in regard to the stone and stone industry of Washington. The fine grained, compact texture ington. The fine grained, compact texture of the granite renders it so nearly imperious to moisture that its polished surface will retain its luster better than stone of a coarser grain and, rough or polished, it will never moss and contains no iron. It has been demonstrated that its sustaining has been demonstrated that its sustaining qualities for bridges or building stone is greater than that of coarser grained granites; this stone sustaining a pressure of twenty-seven thousand pounds to t e cubic inch. Mr. Story stated that the contrast between the hammered and polished surface was greater than that of any other stone he had ever seen. He had a polished sample of the stone which he had seen heated to a white heat and then instantly cooled. The stone was in no wise injured. heated to a white heat and then instantly cooled. The stone was in no wise injured, even the polished surface retaining its luster. That test alone makes this stole valuable without any of its other splendid qualities. It shows that it is certainly a fre proof granite and as its quantity is unlimited and easily accessible, it cannot be long before it will be ranked as one of the valuable stone deposits of this country. Since it is only four miles to the nearest rallway station and by actual survey there is only Boar! of agriculture. H. 340, to abolish the board of agriculture, was called up by Mr. Davis of Pomfret. Mr. Currier of Troy favored the bill, but did not favor doing away with the cattle commission.

He gave figures showing the expense of the board and maintained that the farmers did not receive benefits to compensate. The governor might appoint one competent man to attend to cattle disease, with assistance of veterinary, and the Legislature could then dispense with the heard and save money. Farmers receive small benefit from the lectures. Mr. Davis of Pomfret opposed the bill.

Mr. Davis of Pomfret opposed the bill. The board has always kept considerably within its appropriation. He gave a review of the board and its work. The results have been fairly up to expectations. He charged the gentleman from Troy with being less careful of the State's treasury than he pretended, as his committee visitations to institutions had cost $700, or more than was reasonable.

Mr. Carrier deviced that the expectations Mr. Currier denied that the expense was so great, being less, he stated, than last season. He further argued in favor of the bill. Mr. Fullam of Ludlow opposed the bill. He said that when retrenchment was proposed it was first directed against the bill. Mr. Sanford of Stamford moved to dismiss the bill.

Mr. Burditt of Pittsford defended the board and thought it might be improved by even more expense. The cattle work ought not to be separated from the board.

Mr. Thrall of West Rutland cited the case of a young farmer in his town who had made a great success by following the board's advice. Our farmers are too unresponsive many times. If we meant to abolish this board we should also erase from the coat of arms the pine tree, the cow and the shock of wheat, and perhaps substitute the fish hatchery or the Pan American exposition. Mr. Chase of Bethel said it would be a mistake to abolish the board.
